THE AUDITOR'S REPORT.

We dip up and serve out, to-day, another helpful from this olla putrida, cooked by our Radical administration for the delicate palates of the tax payers of the State. The pot is by no means exhausted, but we only design fishing out the "fat fishes," in small quantities, that our readers may the better digest them. To-day we serve up L. P. Olds, Pruyn and Handy Lockhart. And, with due regard to gentlemanly bearing, brightness of spectacles and general resemblance to Dr. Franklin, we give precedence to

HANDY.

In looking over the Report of the State Auditor, in the tabular statement of expenditures in detail, we find that uncle Handy got the following sums for the services mentioned:

In the month of November, 1869, page 99 of the Report is this item:

Handy Lockhart for repairing 30 desks in Senate Chamber and 32 chairs; repairing Speaker's and Clerk's stands, and 120 seats in House of Representatives, ... $465 00

In the month of March 1870, page 119 of the Report is this entry:

Handy Lockhart, for making desk and letter box for Senate Chamber, and repairing chairs, ... $52 27

In the same month, page 123, is entered:

Handy Lockhart, for repairing chairs in Senate Chamber and House of Representatives, and work done in sundry offices of State House, ... $56 87

And again, in the month of July, page 146, is recorded:

Handy Lockhart, for repairing 20 chairs, ... $10 00

Making in the aggregate the sum of five hundred and eighty four dollars and fourteen cents paid to Handy, mostly for repairing chairs in the two Halls. The Radical Legislature must have been a terrible set for breaking chairs, taking the above charges as a criterion to judge by. We daresay that the most rowdy drinking establishment in Raleigh, sir even in New-bern, didn't have as much breakage among its furniture between Oct. 1st 1869 and Sept. 30th 1870.

But the above does not tell all the Chair story. In addition to this tremendous amount of repairing, we see that the administration purchased of Messrs. W. H. & R. S. Tucker & Co., one dozen chairs for $45, and from Mr. Fraps, 56 arm chairs for the Senate Chamber; from the same, in the month of November 1869, one chair for the Speaker of the House of Representatives, for $6.25, and in the month of March 1870, from the same, a "pivot chair" for the Speaker of the House of Representatives for $18; and in the same month it is recorded that Mr. Fraps was paid $76 for repairing chairs &c.

Surely they were the most sitting down set that ever assembled in Raleigh. But we must leave them now, to sit at their ease awhile—that is, as much at their ease as they can, under the circumstances, and turn our attention to

"MY SON-IN-LAW LOUIS."

We find it recorded of the Attorney General, who, be it remembered, received his appointment from "Dad," on the resignation of Coleman, who was sent off to Stettin because liquor was scarce there, that he received regularly his monthly salary of $125 from October 1869 to August 1870, inclusive, making $1,375 00

For indexing public laws of 1868-'69 ..... 100 00

Under an act ratified March 17, 1870, with regard to the Chesapeake and Albemarle Canal, he got, for something, the report does'nt say what, ... 750 00

For attending January term, 1870, of the Supreme Court 100 00

For attending the June term, 1870, of the Supreme Court 100 00

To which add the amount paid him for services in the Ashley frauds investigations, as reported by Gov. Caldwell to the present General Assembly 5,000 00

And it makes a total of $7,550 00

Only seven thousand five hundred and fifty dollars, paid by "Dad" to his son Louis, in one year, and we don't believe he would sell for half the sum, if put up at public auction. We don't know which to congratulate most, Louis for having such a liberal "Dad," or "Dad" for having such a dear son. Indeed, he is a dear son, not only to "Dad," but, from the above figures, dear to his good old mother, the State, also.

We devote the concluding paragraph to that delectable carpet bagger,

D. J. PRUYN.

We will inform our readers that this name is pronounced as if written "Prine," and that the owner of the name cut a figure in the original Deep Water Swindle. The chances of speculative operations having since come to have settled down into a fine line of speculation—that of plundering the capitol—gather these

190 cords wood at $4.25, ... $807 50
In March, to D. J. Pruyn, for
100 cords wood at $4.00, ... 400 00
Making a total of $1,207 50

Now, we say, that the above contract with Pruyn, by whom-soever made, was a direct and downright swindle on the State. There was not a day during the entire time when this wood was being delivered, that Rufus H. Page, and we have no doubt others, would not have delivered on Capitol Square, good hard wood at $4 per cord. This would have been a saving of twenty five cents in the cord.

But a better arrangement than that could have been made. The price of wood, delivered at either Depot in the city, has not exceded $3 per cord since October 1869, and the universal price for hauling from the Depots to any part of the city has been 50 cents per cord. So that, had those who had the management of this wood contract, and who were paid by the State to attend to it, done their duty economically, seventy-five cents per cord, on 450 cords bought might have been saved to the State, and lightened to that extent the burden of the hard pressed tax-payers.

It is true that these things are, comparatively, small in themselves; but the ocean is composed of drops, and it is to the aggregation of these small extravagances of the administration that is to be attributed the burdens of taxes under which our people labor, the depleted condition of the State Treasury and the ruin of our State credit.

Enough for the present. We will serve up another similar dish before very long.

Although not less than seven U. S. Senators have within the past few years been elected by Georgia Legislatures, the Legislature of that State, which is to assemble on the first Monday in next January, will elect another Senator for the vacancy which will occur on the 3d of March next. Thus the U. S. Senate have seven persons from whom to choose two to represent Georgia in that body for the short term. "You pays your money and you takes your choice."

There are in the eleven Territories of this country, including Alaska, nearly one thousand million acres of land which, owing to the sparseness of the population, may be described as unoccupied. If the 40,000,000 who inhabit the States were diffused through this vast land ocean, they would be as few and far between as the sails which, according to the popular idea, "whiten every sea."

The Portage Lake canal, which has been talked about ever since Lake Superior has been navigated, is in a fair way of completion, and will be open for the passage of the largest lake steamers and vessels in the spring. Its completion is of great importance to the whole Lake Superior region. It will shorten the lake route about one hundred miles, reduce insurance and risks of navigation, and be adapted to nearly all the commerce of the lake.

The New York Herald says that it is reported that General Grant has written a letter releasing the federal officers of restraint, and allowing them to express their opinions and preferences for Senatorial candidates in Illinois. He washes his hands of any direct action in behalf of any candidate; but it cannot well be concealed that he prefers either Dubois or Governor Palmer to General Logan.

The following is a noble tribute, paid to a native of this State, Caswell county, who perished in the Spotswood Hotel fire, by the New York Commercial Advertiser:

Among the sufferers by the awful calamity in Richmond, on Christmas morning, was a young man, Samuel Hines, whose name deserves to be passed around, that it may be mentioned and written with that homage which genuine heroism ever inspires. Twice, at the imminent peril of his life, he rushed through the fire and smoke, and safely emerged again, dragging with him some unfortunate whom terror had deprived of the power of self-exertion. He was seen to dash into the burning mass a third time, but an instant after, the forked flames shot up in all directions, shutting him from the view of the enthralled spectators, and the gallant soul came back no more.

We clip from the Charlotte Observer of the 30th inst. the following particulars of a foul murder, robbery and house burning in Mecklenburg County:

On Tuesday night last, some negroes visited the house of Mr. Edward Smith, some ten miles east of this city, and knocked at the door, asking permission to enter and warm, (it being very cold) and as Mr. Smith opened the door one of the party fired on him, killing him instantly. Mrs. Smith, making her appearance, was knocked down and left as dead when the fiends proceeded to rob the house of what money and valuables they could find.—Mrs. S. having recovered, made her escape, and after the thieves had got what they went after, they set fire to the building and made their escape. The body of Mr. Smith was consumed with the burning building.

No clue has been reached so far as to who were the perpetrators of the foul deed. It is hoped that they will be ferretted out and brought to justice.

P. S.—Since writing the above, we learn from Mr. Little, Coroner, that the parties who perpetrated the deed have been arrested and lodged in jail. Mrs. Smith is so badly beaten that it is impossible for her to live long. We have heard no further particulars.

The Mobile Register advocates the election of Gen. Frank Blair Jr., as the successor of Drake, late Senator from Missouri.

The Missouri Legislature could not make a better selection.

INCREASING THE TAX ON WHISKY.—Soon after the recess an effort will be made to increase the tax on whisky, with some prospect of success, it is said. It is stated that the new Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Gen. Pleasanton, favors such an increase, and that he will recommend to Congress to take off the tax on what are termed the necessaries of life, and put the difference on whisky.—Pomeroy's Press.

Besides General Logan and Governor Oglesby, Mr. Medill, of the Chicago Tribune and Gustavus Koerner are mentioned [illegible] Illinois.

REPORT OF WM. S. CORNELL,

On the adaptability of the Mountains of Western N. C. for Cheese Making and Dairy Farming. Also report of manufacture of "Elk Mountain Cheese." Read before the North Carolina State Fair, at Raleigh, Oct. 1870.

CHEESE MAKING.

The adaptability of Western North Carolina to the production of milk, has been so far demonstrated that it is now a certainty, that the time is not far distant when this branch of industry will be of considerable magnitude and a source of real, though gradually accumulated wealth.—At present cheese making seems likely to receive the most attention. Of the success of the Factory or Co-operative system, there is much doubt, so long as the land is held in such large tracts. It necessitates hauling milk too far, over bad, mountainous roads, which is injurious to the milk and too laborious to be profitable; for these reasons, the Dairy system must be preferable.

The area of country where cheese making has heretofore been successfully carried on is so limited, and the demand for cheese is so great and rapidly increasing, that such lands now command enormous prices, consequently Dairymen will seek new territory. The Mountains of this State offer great inducements, and possess attractions that must claim their attention. All the valuable grasses grow luxuriantly, water is abundant and cool, altitude so great as to offset a Southern latitude and a climate unsurpassed on the continent. Many of the present land holders, when they came and that Dairying, besides being immediately remunerative, continually improves their farms still, no doubt, engage in it, instead of impoverishing them by a continuous corn crop, as is too often the case. To such, the hints which I shall offer may be of some benefit.

I would advise the selection of mountain lands for pastures; at great attitudes cows are not tormented with flies, the milk made on grasses grown on mountains yields more cheese than that made from the same varieties grown on the red clay in the valleys. Blue grass and white clover, which are spontaneous, make good milk, but experiments made during the past season have proved that milk from orchard grass will yield much more cheese than that from any other variety with which we are acquainted. In preparing pastures with a view to cheese making I would strongly advise seeding with this grass.

The Factory and Dry House should also be located well up in the mountains, an altitude of 3,000 feet above the level of the sea will be found better than a less elevated location; the night air is so cool that, with such water as can be found throughout the Piedmont country, no ice will be required to keep the night's milk till the following day, and the atmosphere during the day is sufficiently cool to enable the manipulator to work his cheese as slow as he chooses without fear of its acidifying before the proper time.

The Factory should be far enough below a spring of good water, so that it will run into any part of the building; the water should show a temperature of at least 60 deg. Fah'nt; for convenience sake the Dry House should be near the Factory, and built of material that will, as far as possible be a non-conductor of heat. To ripen cheese well, the temperature should be kept at about 70 deg. A humid atmosphere is also desirable, and may be produced by having a vat of running water on the first floor.

The Factory furniture consists of vats presses and several minor articles; be careful to select a vat that will distribute heat uniformally; if it concentrates at one point more than another the milk and curd has to be almost constantly stirred, and too much agitation prevents the production of the greatest quantity and best quality of cheese, the loss being in butter and not cassine. Every vessel used to hold milk about the Factory or Dairy should be of tin; all experienced Dairymen now agree that it is unsafe to allow milk to come in contact with the same piece of wood, a second time, or day after day; the wood shrinks and swells, so the pores open and take in milk, there to remain to sour and ferment and eventually impart the same putrefactive element to milk brought in contact with it. All complicated presses have been thrown aside and a simple screw is now used. The agitator, or that part of it which comes in contact with the milk, should be made of tin, it should be kept running all night with a slow uniform motion; if it runs unsteadily, it will burst more or less of the butteric globules, which will then be lost with the whey.

For coagulating milk, nothing has ever been found, to answer so good a purpose as Pepsin or Rennet, as it is called. Vegitable acids, with the addition of alkali have been used, but not with so satisfactory results as rennet. The old theory was, that when rennet came in contact with milk-sugar it produced a lactic acid, which coagulated the milk; but by evaporating sweet whey in vacuo, nearly as much sugar will be found as should have been in the milk before coagulation; this is conclusive evidence that the theory is not correct, in fact most cheese makers now agree with Prof. Caldwell, that it is a ferment, and that the fungus multiplies itself to an indefinite extent, when placed in milk.

In order to keep these minute creatures under control, and cause them to assume proper forms, the manipulator has constantly to study cause and effect; atmospheric changes effect them perceptibly, often producing disastrous results; the milk should undergo no material change after it is drawn from the cow before the Rennet is added, but every care should be used to have it in the best possible condition. From the time the Rennet is placed in the milk these little creatures are continually changing in form until the cheese is ripened and consumed as food. To prepare Rennet for use, it should be soaked for several days in whey or water, the liquid usually has an offensive odor and should be brought in contact with charcoal, which takes up all the foul odor and also obviates the necessity of adding salt, which is objectionable as it materially diminishes its effectiveness; in fact salt should at no time come in contact with the fungus until acidity is developed in the curd. One good Rennet is sufficient to congulate the milk from a cow for an entire season; the Bavarian rennets, which are cured without salt, are the best.

It is now admitted by all successful cheese makers, that to produce prime cheese, there must be a certain amount of lactic acid in the curd, which must be taken on after it is cooked, but before it is put to press. To determine the exact point where it should be arrested is a most important part of cheese making; at no other time during the whole process is the manipulator's skill subjected to so severe a test. He must be guided by taste and smell; these senses should not be impaired by the use of tobacco, neither should anything sour be taken in the mouth for some time previous to testing the acidity. If the cheese maker possesses these senses with all their natural acuteness, it is yet necessary that he should serve a long apprenticeship, because no two persons possess them in the same degree, so no rule can be given that will be safe to work by. The first sign of approaching acidity, is a slightly bitter smell in the curd, but a decidedly sour smell soon takes its place, a little taste is also perceptible in the whey, which sooner or later becomes sour.—Many cheese makers prefer taking the curd out of the whey as soon as there are any indications of acidity, and leaving it exposed to the air during the time of acidifying; this method is probably preferable.

So long as we are obliged to cater to the imagination, as well as the tastes of consumers of cheese, we must color it. To give it the unnatural color required, annatto is put in the milk; it formerly came to the cheese maker in the form of paste, but it is now so rarely found unadulterate, and when found, hard to dissolve so thoroughly as not to spot or mottle the cheese, that it is better to be on the safe side, to get it in liquid form, that has been prared by experts. The best article now in use is prepared by Geo. Arter, Bristol England; the American color makers are Jones Smith & Underhill, 26 White Hall Street, N. Y.

In making the cheese here on exhibition, the following rules are observed: When the milk is brought in at night and placed in the vat, the agitator is immediately put in motion, and water the will cool the milk to 62 degrees or be kept running around it all night; after the morning's milk is added to it, it is agitated a short time to allow the animal heat to pass off, coloring is added, heated to 86 degrees, and sufficient rennet added to show signs of coagulation in 15 minutes, and sufficient, rennet added to show signs of coagulation in 15 minutes, the surface is agitated slightly fifteen minutes for it to thicken; as soon as the least whey appears around the edge of the vat it is cut. In cutting great care is used to avoid bruising the curd, as it is extremely tender. After the curd has settled sufficiently for the whey to cover it, it is heated slowly to 95 or 98 degrees. It is not a second time, a fine as kernels of corn and heated to 98 or 100 degrees, at which temperature it remains till sufficiently cooked. To determine this, press a handful of curd tightly together, and suddenly open the hand; if thoroughly cooked, the curd is elastic and will fall apart. When thoroughly cooked, its gradually cooled, this has taken on a sufficient amount of acidity, and 1 lb of salt to 40 lbs of curd added; it is put in hoops and pressed for several hours, then bandaged and again pressed for several hours. They are then ready for the dry house, where they are immediately oiled with they butter, here they remain till sufficiently ripened.

THE OLD KINGSLAND MANOR.—EARLY SETTLERS OF NEW BARBADOES, NEW JERSEY.

Among the descendants of Oliver Cromwell was Nathaniel Kingsland, of Barbadoes Island. He seems to have made his peace with the royal family, for, shortly after the Protector's death, Nathaniel Kingsland and Mary, his wife, received a grant of several thousand acres of land in Nova Cesarea or New Jersey, from Charles II, some time prior to 1652. It extended for nearly twelve miles about opposite Belleville, from the Hackensack to the Passaic. Nathaniel did not come in person to locate the land, but sent his agent, Mr. Sandford, who gave it the name of New Barbadoes. Some time after, William Kingsland emigrated to New Jersey from Barbadoes and built a mansion house which was completed in the year 1668, and is still standing and owned by some of the heirs, on what is now the Lackawanna road, about two miles north of the Schuyler copper mines. This was several years prior to 1760. His William Kingsland was the son of Nhaniel and Mary, and the father of Edward William Kingsland and grand father of the late General Gabriel Kingsland, who lived at the old mansion house in 1866, (when was the writer of these fellow townsmen, Kingsland.)

Edmund William was taken prisoner by the British, carried down the river to the town house in New York, where he was kept for some time. Could it see the old mansion in his life time he regretted having given up his new hat. It was a fine, heavy beaver, and his captors amused themselves during the journey by beating in over the head with it. The Kingsland family plate was buried during the war, at the foot of a pear tree near the mansion. A tankard, that was hidden there, is in the possession of one of the family, which was brought to England by the family in the year 16[illegible]. The British officers took a visit to the house and were kept busy for some time by the inmates, who barricaded the doors and windows. At length the assaulting party threatened to break in by a door where Edmund W. Kingsland was stationed. He had a pistol in each hand, and declared he would shoot the first man who made an attempt to enter the house. One of the party then picked up a young negro, by hanging to the potation, and placing him in front, told M.K. to "fire away." Mr. Kingsland, not wishing to hurt one of his own servants, did not fire, but the faithful slave cried out "Let 'em shoot, massa, never mind me." This is supposed to have been the time when Mr. Kingsland was captured. The English and Hessians took possession of the house and occupied it for several months. Mr. K. had previously hollowed out a board in the mantelpiece and secured his money in it, put in a block and pulled it over. He found it undisturbed on his return from imprisonment. The Englands were regular attendants at Trinity Church, in the city, and through this the first Episcopal Church organization at Belleville was made.

John Richards, who was connected by marriage with the Kinglands, owned a large tract of land, part of which is now known as Rutherford Park. He was murdered in the Belleville woods by refugees, while on his way home from New York.

THE ARMIES OF THE EAST.—The New York Tribune's correspondent at Vienna, now that the Eastern question is assuming interest, furnishes us with a full history of the military forces of the Eastern nations, with accurate information as to their strength, organization, &c. He says Russia can place in the field 784,000 men with 1,304 guns, ready for battle; and this estimate does not include what are called the local or sedentary troops, numbering over a quarter of a million. In fact, the army rolls show, of all classes and all arms, no less than one and a third millions of men.

The land strength of Turkey consists, in time of peace, of about 325,000 men with 800 guns. To these should also be added the militia or irregular troops, bringing the army standard to 400,000.

The Austrian field army is over 500,000 men, with 1,248 guns. Besides this there are the reserves, the depot battallions and the landwher.

Summarizing the forces that would be, in case of war, be engaged, and estimating Italy's force at 150,000, and England's at 100,000 (including the Indian contingent,) not taking into account the fleets, we have 250,000 men Turkey 250,000 and Austria 500,000 making in round numbers, 1,000,000 of fighting men opposed to Russia with an army nearly as great and as well armed. In case of war the conflict would be for Austria an immense task; she would have to defend the whole Gallician frontier, beside stay the Panslavic movement among her own populations. Indeed, the Vienna journals are unanimous in recognizing the gravity of the Austrian situation in case of war, and, though the government would not shirk war, her every effort will be exerted to bring about a peaceful diplomatic solution of the question at issue.

DR. AND MRS. LACY'S SCHOOL.—The next session of this excellent Seminary for young ladies commences on the 3rd of February. Assisted by Mrs. Lacy, the school presents very superior advantages. Send to Dr. L. for Circular.

GOOD APPOINTMENT.—We learn that Patrick McGowan, Esq., has been placed in charge of the Capitol and other public buildings, as keeper, until the Legislature, when it re-assembles, shall elect a permanent officer. TABLEAUX.—We understand that a movement is on foot to give a series of tableaux, charades, &c., for the purpose of raising funds to assist the "Citizen's Cornet Band" to pay for their instruments. This is a good idea, and one which we hope will shortly be put into execution.

The Court also held that the assignee in bankruptcy must pay out of the estate the reasonable expenses for the use and occupation of the rented premises by the United States marshal, for the storage and sale of the bankrupt's property. A decision to the same effect has been made by Chief Justice Chase.

HARRY AND I.

"Down where the snake-like ivy
Creeps on the meadow by,
We watched in the young day sparkled
The sky with her cream lustars.
The clover was red beneath
The air led the smell of
The cricket chirped in the grass,
And the sat rays of the sun
Drew our shadows out on the meadow,
Distorted, lank and tall.
His shadow was kissing my cheek—
That was the best of all.
My heart leaped up as he whispered,
"I love you, Margery Lee,"
And then clearm of the blow
Went round the shadows too.

"I love you, Margery, darling,
Because you are young as air;
For your eyes bewildering deepness,
And the gold of your curly hair.
No queen in lands that are whiter,
No lark has a voice so sweet,
And your lips young lips prouder
Than the clover at our feet.

"My heart will break with fullness,
Like a cloud o'erchanged with rain,
O, tell me, Margery, darling,
How long I must love I can?"
With blushes and smiles answered—
(I will not tell what)—when
I saw that his saucy shadow
Was kissing my shadow again.

He promised to love me ever,
I promised to love but him,
'Till the moon fell out of the heavens,
And the stars with age grew dim.
Oh, the strength of each devotion!
Oh, the vows a woman make!
'Tis years since that thrill of rapture
Broke redly over my cheek.

He found a gold that was lighter
Than the of my Saxon girls,
And married a cross-eyed widow
With a down grown upon her chin.
Ar-i-i—did I pine and languish?
Did I weep my blue eyes sore?
Or break my heart, a youngling,
For love that was nine or more?

I stand to-night in the meadow,
Where Harry and I stood then,
And the moon has down two shadows
Out over the grass-plat.
And a low voice keeps repeating—
So close to my shoulder
That the shadows not together,
"I love you, Margy, dear.

'Tis not for your cheeks' rich crimson,
And not for your eyes' soft blue,
But because your love is tender,
And noble, and pure and true."
The voice is dearer than Harry's;
And so I am glad now to
His married the cross-eyed widow
Instead of Margy Lee.

Friday Evening Dispatches

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1.—Sixty thousand pounds of powder was exploded in the Blue Point Gravel Gold Mine this evening. Gold bearing earth, 200 feet wide, 75 feet deep, was lifted 30 feet and completely shattered.—This is the greatest mining blast ever fired in California.

MARYLAND.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 30.—Jim Surratt, after lecturing last night, was arrested by revenue officers, charged with not having paid license as a tobacco dealer two years ago, with the design, it is alleged, of preventing his lecturing in Washington on night. He was bailed in the sum of $1,500.

CONNECTICUT.

NEW HAVEN Dec. 30.—At a meeting of the Stockholders of the Home Insurance Company, it was discovered that the stock had never been over $ 400,000 though nominally $1,000,000. The Company in 1867, made a false report. The present insolvableness of the Company exceeds its asset, $300,000. Agents have been notified to stop insuring.

FOREIGN

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The French have reached to defend Cambrai at all hazards. It is stated that 3,000 Prussians are at St. Quentin, 25 miles south of Cambrai.

Arras has been evacuated.

The Prussian governments note to the English government, says Prussia will give indemnity bonds to the owners of British vessels destroyed to impede the navigation of the Seine, but desires to compensate sailors for the harsh treatment accorded them.

BORDEAUX, Dec. 29.—Gamoetta's presence gives great impetus to military preparations.

Bourbaki's army is moving eastward with a view of cutting the Prussian line of communication.

Chanzy has sent a strong column to Montvire, driving the Prussians out of the place and taking many prisoners.

Friday Night Dispatches.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Census returns from 1,729 counties in several States, show the colored population to be, 1,597,011 against 1,441,02 in the same counties at the last census, being an increase of a little over 4½ per cent. But leaving out Northern counties included in the above, the increase is a little less than 3 per cent. The smallness of the gain is considered surprising.

A dispatch from this city to the N. Y. "Tribune" says that Senator Abbott from North Carolina announces his intention to contest the seat of Gov. Vance to the Senate, upon the ground that he received the votes of a majority of those who are legally qualified as members of the Legislature. It is being charged that there are a number of persons holding seats who are disqualified under the 14th amendment.

In compliance with the request and official advice from Mayor Emory, Surratt has indefinitely postponed his lecture in this city.

OREGON.

PORTLAND, Dec. 30.—An overflow of the Tiber has flooded half the city and caused great damage to property.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 30.—Official figures given to-day show that the stock of cotton has heretofore been largely overestimated.

LISBON, Dec. 30.—A dispatch from Belfort reports that a successful sortie has been made by the garrison in which the Prussians were badly punished.

From private sources at Tours it is estimated that the entire number of French troops amount to 750,000.

BORDEAUX, Dec. 30.—A dispatch just received here from Rochefort-Tonne dated the 29th reports the landing of a balloon from Paris at that place with intelligence that the Prussians on Wednesday furiously attacked fort Rosny, Nogent and Mont Averne. Some of their siege batteries were unmasked, and an attempt made of a regular bombardment, but the attack was repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy. The morale of Paris is excellent.

Accounts received here show that both Prussian and French troops have suffered terribly from cold. Strong re-inforcements have been put forward to all points to replace French soldiers thus incapacitated. Vast quantities of material, calculated to increase the comfort of the troops have also been sent to the front.

A dispatch from Rocroy of the 29th says, the French artillery at Mizieres prevented the Prussians from establishing their siege batteries.

Bourbaki's command is charged especially with the duty of re-victualing Paris, and he is already on hand a large number of live stock and provisions for that purpose. At a proper moment this army will make a desperate effort to join Chanzy's forces and re-unite the army of the Loire, which will then, with great energy, push on for Paris.

Gen. Palikdine's reverse is now charged to meddling politicians, who persuaded Gambetta to interfere with his military operations.

The Earl of Granville has received an official from the French government at Bordeaux in which the French declare a determination not to send delegates to the Peace Conference to be held in London. The rulers of the British government will first recognize the Republic. A dispatch of similar tone has been sent to each of the rulers.

Advices fro Madrid state that Prim has announced a determination to resign in person to King Amadeus and pleads a desire to retire to private life.

Dispatches from Versailles state that the general evacuation of the Departments east of Paris, who have been occupied by German troops, still continues. It is thought this is being done in order to concentrate the Prussian strength in and around Versailles.

It appears that the Prussians committed excesses at Orleans and Blois because the inhabitants who had been ruined, were not able to meet the requisitions. At Orleans the Prussians watened to take away as hostages 50 prominent citizens unless 650,000 francs are paid for the mal-treatment of Prussian soldiers.

WHAT THE CITY PRESS SAY:

PRIZE DRAWING.—Quite a crowd assembled at the Theatre yesterday noon, to witness the Grand Drawing of the North Carolina Benedicial Association. There were 110 prizes in all, and little rolls of paper separating these were placed in a wheel on one side, while the tickets were in another wheel opposite to the former. Between the two was a table, at which sat the Judges and Mr. John London, Commissioner. The wheels were made with glass sides, so that everything within them could be seen and were securely locked, until the drawing began. This was done by some Twelve Little Boys, who were securely blindfolded, one drawing a number from each of the wheels and the other the prize to correspond with it. There is no question but that the drawing was done in a perfectly fair and just manner.—Wilmington Daily Journal, Dec 3rd.

THE GRAND DRAWING YESTERDAY. The grand single number distribution of the N. C. Benedicial Association, which took place at the Theatre yesterday, at 1 o'clock, was the all absorbing theme during the day. The drawing took place in public, a committee having been selected from the audience to act with the Commissioner in keeping an account of the same and to see that it was conducted fairly. Quite a respectable crowd was present to witness the drawing. The following numbers drew the principal prizes: No 3449, $3,000; No. 6300, $2,500; No. 5726, $2,000; No. 2842, $2,000; No. 1407, $2,000; No. 862, $2,000; No. 14895, $600. BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

Cash Assets over $1,500,000,

ISSUES ALL FORMS OF NON FORFEITABLE, WHOLE LIFE AND ENDOWMENT POLICIES, on the Mutual Cash Plan, declaring dividends annually after the first annual premium paid. Assets exclusively Cash, with no portion of non reserve fund in promissory notes, consequently its "reserve" be stronger than that of any company doing business in this State. No "definite surrender values guaranteed" loan inducements to new insurers, but reference is made to the average amount paid on each surrendered policy, as shown in the New York Insurance Reports, 1869, as evidence of having paid larger surrender values, than has been given under a minimum "Definite Cash Surrender Value." Death losses have been promptly paid on several hundred policy holders in this State, which fact must establish the liberality of the Company to pay larger dividends than companies having an excessive mortality, the result of a selection of bad risks. "Fictitious Dividends" are not offered, but dividends are given from the actual surplus, in accordance with the Company's charter. The attention of the public is invited to the following comparison of cost, demonstrating the advantages over ordinary insurances, of the

The BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for judgment of investment, economy of management, and skill and care in the selection of risks, upon which the principle of stimulation the security of a life insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of their Policies, each and every year, and a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation must be held by the companies to meet all their liabilities.

Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully seek for this important safeguard. It will be found in the BROOKLYN LIFE.
